

Slotted self-locking nut

The slotted nut is used in numerous assembly applications subjected to vibrations, in places which are difficult to reach.

The slotted nut is made completely of metal and can be used in difficult environments.

